

Friday's for the pub - 30 s paid ad

Tachyo · Video Marketing Production Pack

Status	Draft for approval
Date	28 September 2026
Master format	1:1 master (1080 x 1080) for LinkedIn and Facebook feed
Length	30 s master + 15 s cutdown, from 4 generated blocks of 15 s (1a, 2a, 3a, 4a)
Audience language	British English (dialogue and captions)

This document is the approved plan for the film. The section 'Director hand-off' contains everything needed to write the shotlist: the Style Prefix (to be used verbatim), characters, reference map, scenes with block IDs, and the editing inserts that are not generated. Line breaks inside boxed text come from page wrapping; every Style Prefix field starts with its label (Style:, Lighting:, and so on).

1. Overview and open items

- Film: "Friday's for the pub". A small haulage owner misses Friday drinks again because he is doing the wages by hand. One week later, Tachyo has already worked the wages out, and he makes it to the pub while his pint is still cold.
- Goal: awareness. Most small fleet owners have never heard of Tachyo, so the film makes them recognise their own Friday and remember one idea.
- Funnel stage: awareness. One action: request access at tachyo.co.uk.
- Platforms: LinkedIn (priority) and industry Facebook groups. Master format 1:1, which works in both feeds on desktop and mobile.
- Length: 30 s master and 15 s cutdown, edited from four 15 s generated blocks: 1a (pub, waiting), 2a (office, by hand), 3a (office, next Friday), 4a (pub, arrival).
- Status: every stage below is a draft for your approval. Decisions marked [assumed] in the Brand Card are defaults I picked for you.

Open items to confirm

- ☐ Caption wording "Wages worked out from real shifts." matches what Tachyo payroll does today
- ☐ Supply a real screen recording of the payroll screen with demo data only (no pilot client data)
- ☐ Supply the Tachyo logo file (PNG or SVG) for the end card
- ☐ Confirm CTA "Request access - tachyo.co.uk"
- ☐ Check LinkedIn and Meta ad policies on alcohol imagery and on labelling AI-generated content before publishing
- ☐ Confirm Northern English accents for Gary, Dean and Sam
- ☐ Test one character sheet on your video platform first (face-filter check)

2. Director hand-off

Input for the seedance-shotlist-director skill. Use the Style Prefix verbatim in every prompt. Block IDs are the scene number plus a letter. Generated blocks are 15 s each; the editor trims them to the 30 s and 15 s cuts in section 6 (Script).

1. Project settings

PROJECT: Tachyo - Friday's for the pub
 BLOCK LENGTH: 15 seconds (4 blocks generated, edited down to a 30 s master and a 15 s cutdown)
 LANGUAGE: Prompt text in English. Spoken lines in British English, in quotation marks, with delivery notes.
 ASPECT RATIO: 1:1 (square) for the LinkedIn and Facebook feed

2. Style Prefix (use verbatim in every prompt)

Style: Photorealistic cinematic commercial, grounded British realism. No 3D render, no game engine.
 Lighting: Motivated practical light only. Office: cold overhead fluorescent plus one warm desk lamp, blue dusk in the window. Pub: warm tungsten wall lamps and back-bar glow, light haze.
 Color: 60:30:10. 60 charcoal and deep blue-grey, 30 steel grey in the office or warm amber and dark wood in the pub, 10 brand red (#CC0000) in props only.
 Camera: Physical cine lens, shallow depth of field, 180-degree shutter motion blur. Static or slow motivated moves only, no handheld shake.
 Skin: Natural skin texture with pores, stubble and fine lines. No beauty smoothing.
 Acting: Restrained British naturalism. Dry, understated, micro-pauses before reactions, precise eye-lines, hands always busy.
 Physics: Gravity and inertia respected, correct contact shadows, beer foam and condensation behave realistically, no floating props.
 Composition: Square 1:1 frame, key action centred inside safe margins, clear foreground and background separation, every person moving from frame one.
 Continuity: Characters, wardrobe, props and environment identical across every cut. No identity drift.
 Technical: 24 fps smooth motion, high detail, no jitter, no flicker.
 Frame content: No generated text, captions, logos, signage or readable screens in frame. Paper and screens are never legible.
 Audio: Natural dialogue in British English (Northern accents) and room ambience only. No music. No captions.

3. Reference map, characters and product accuracy

REFERENCE MAP:
 CHAR-GARY-01 = Gary, character sheet (fleece) = @Image1
 CHAR-GARY-01-jacket = Gary with black padded work jacket = @Image2
 CHAR-DEAN-01 = Dean, character sheet = @Image3
 CHAR-SAM-01 = Sam, character sheet = @Image4
 LOC-OFFICE-BEFORE = yard office, cluttered desk, dusk = @Image5
 LOC-OFFICE-AFTER = same office, clear desk, dusk = @Image6
 LOC-PUB = corner table in a traditional pub, evening = @Image7

CHARACTERS (anchors, wardrobe and state per scene):
 GARY (CHAR-GARY-01) - 48, owner of a small UK haulage firm. Stocky, short greying hair, trimmed grey stubble, tired eyes, reading glasses. Charcoal quarter-zip work fleece over a plain black T-shirt, dark work trousers. No logos.
 Scene 2: exhausted, glasses on, sleeves pushed up, hunched over paperwork.
 Scene 3 (one week later): rested, glasses on, calm; puts on a black padded work jacket (CHAR-GARY-01-jacket) before leaving.
 Scene 4: black padded jacket open over the fleece, glasses off, relaxed grin, cold air on his cheeks.
 DEAN (CHAR-DEAN-01) - early 50s, Gary's mate. Broad, bald, full salt-and-pepper beard, laugh lines. Dark green checked flannel shirt over a grey T-shirt. Same wardrobe in Scenes 1 and 4.
 SAM (CHAR-SAM-01) - late 30s, Gary's mate. Dark brown hair in a low ponytail, freckles, dry smile. Burgundy knit jumper. Same wardrobe in Scenes 1 and 4.

PRODUCT ACCURACY: Tachyo is software. Never show its interface in a generated shot. The laptop screen always faces away from camera; the phone is face-down or angled away. The real Tachyo payroll screen is added in editing as a screen recording. No logos, lorry livery or signage anywhere in frame.

4. Scenes, editing inserts and notes

SCENES:

Scene 1 - Pub, Friday 6:10 pm. Gary's pint is going flat beside his empty stool; his mates have given up waiting. (Hook: recognition + humour.)

Prompt 1a (15 s): LOC-PUB, corner table by a dark window, warm tungsten light. DEAN and SAM sit side by side on the bench, facing camera; a small round table between them and camera holds their two half-drunk pints and a third, untouched full pint on a beer mat in front of an empty wooden stool (camera side). Beats: open on an extreme close-up of the untouched pint, foam thinning, a bead of condensation running down the glass, the empty stool edge in soft focus (the first 3 seconds must read as a striking image on their own). Rack focus to Dean glancing at the pub door (frame left), then at the untouched pint. Sam turns her phone face-down on the table with a small sigh. DEAN (dry, deadpan, to Sam): "He's doing the wages again." SAM (shakes her head, half-smile): "Every Friday." Camera: static macro, then a slow push-in to a medium two-shot at table height, 50 mm feel. References: @Image3 @Image4 @Image7.

Scene 2 - Yard office, the same Friday evening. Gary is buried in paper timesheets, doing payroll by hand. (Problem: frustration, tired recognition.)

Prompt 2a (15 s): LOC-OFFICE-BEFORE, a small portakabin office at a lorry yard at dusk; blue light through the window behind Gary, plain lorry cabs under yard floodlights outside, cold fluorescent overhead, one warm desk lamp. GARY sits at a cluttered desk facing camera: stacks of paper timesheets, a desk calculator, a red lever-arch file lying open, a mug of cold tea, a laptop pushed aside with its screen facing away. Beats: he runs a finger down a timesheet (paper never legible), taps the calculator, stops, frowns, taps it again. His phone buzzes face-down on the desk; he turns it over, glances at it (screen angled away from camera), exhales through his nose and puts it back face-down. He pulls the next timesheet off the pile. GARY (muttering to himself, tired): "Night out Tuesday... weekend rate Saturday..." He pushes his glasses up and rubs his eyes. Camera: static medium shot, 35 mm feel, then a slow push to a close-up on his tired face under the lamp. References: @Image1 @Image5.

Scene 3 - Same office, one week later, same time. The wages are already done. (Turn: quiet relief.)

Prompt 3a (15 s): LOC-OFFICE-AFTER, identical office, window, light and dusk as Scene 2, but the desk is clear: no paper stacks, the red lever-arch file closed on the shelf behind him, the laptop in front of him with its screen facing away from camera. GARY, rested, sits upright. Beats: he reads the laptop screen, a small approving nod, one click on the trackpad. He leans back in the chair; a slow half-smile. He stands, reaches over and switches off the desk lamp (the room drops to blue dusk), lifts his black padded work jacket off the back of the chair, pulls it on, and walks out of the door frame right; the door swings shut behind him. No dialogue. Ambience: fluorescent hum, a lorry idling far off in the yard, the lamp switch click. Camera: static medium shot matching Scene 2's framing exactly (before/after), a subtle pan to follow him to the door. References: @Image1 @Image2 @Image6.

Scene 4 - Pub, that next Friday. Gary arrives on foot, and his pint is still cold. (Payoff: belonging, relief, a shared laugh.)

Prompt 4a (15 s): LOC-PUB, same corner table, same warm light as Scene 1. DEAN and SAM sit on the bench as before. GARY enters through the pub door in the background (frame left), cold air on his cheeks, jacket open, and walks to the table. Beats: Dean slides a fresh pint with a thick head of foam across the table towards the stool; Sam hooks the stool out with her foot. Gary sits. DEAN (eyebrow raised, deadpan): "Wages?" GARY (calm, a grin spreading): "Done. Before I left." Sam laughs; the three raise their glasses and clink over the table centre. Camera: medium wide from table height, 35 mm feel, as Gary crosses and sits; then a close shot on the three glasses meeting (hands only, so no more than two faces are in sharp focus at once). References: @Image2 @Image3 @Image4 @Image7.

EDITING INSERTS (not generated):

- 0-3 s caption over 1a: "Friday. 6:10 pm."
- Dialogue captions for every spoken line (burned in, white bold, key word in brand red).
- Between 2a and 3a (about 3-4 s): real Tachyo payroll screen recording with demo data only; caption "Wages worked out from real shifts." (wording to confirm).
- Over the start of 3a: caption "Next Friday."
- 27-30 s end card: real Tachyo logo, line "Friday's for the pub. Not the payroll.", CTA "Request access - tachyo.co.uk".
- Music added in editing (see music brief); the phone message in 2a is not shown (no screen insert needed).

NOTES:

- Audio: native dialogue and ambience from the model; music added in the edit. If native British accents are weak, re-record the four lines in a voice tool and keep mouths turned away or in soft focus.
- Seams sit on location or time changes: 1a to 2a (pub to office), 2a to insert to 3a (one week later), 3a to 4a (office to pub). No mid-action joins.
- Scenes 2 and 3 must share the same camera position and framing so the before/after reads with the sound off.
- Gary always walks to the pub (no car keys, no vehicle shown on his way): he runs a haulage firm, so the film must never imply drink-driving.
- Hook variants B and C reuse existing footage (re-ordered or re-captioned); no extra generation needed.
- Scene 4 has three characters: keep two faces in sharp focus per cut and plan extra quality-gate attempts.

3. Strategy

- Problem: Friday payroll done by hand keeps you at the desk while everyone else has started the weekend.
- Promise: with Tachyo the wages are worked out from the shifts your drivers actually did, so Friday evening is yours again.
- Proof: no verified numbers yet, so the proof is a demonstration: the real payroll screen, shown for 3-4 seconds.
- Action: request access at tachyo.co.uk.
- Target emotion: recognition with a laugh, then relief. Why: small fleet owners have lived this exact Friday; a dry, self-aware joke earns attention without preaching.
- Story category: problem to solution, told as a small character story with a before/after in the same office. Why: the same camera angle a week apart makes the change readable with the sound off.

Channel fit: LinkedIn suits the owner as a business decision-maker; Facebook haulage groups reach the same people off-duty, where the pub humour lands even better. Keep one film for both. Alcohol appears only as background to the joke; check each platform's current ad rules on alcohol imagery, and keep a no-alcohol fallback idea in reserve (for example, the mates waiting at five-a-side football).

4. Personas

Field	Persona: "Gaz, the owner-driver turned boss" (working name)
Who	Owner of a UK haulage firm with 5-20 lorries, 40-60, came up through driving, still runs dispatch and does the wages himself (sometimes with a partner in the office).
Day-to-day	Early starts in the yard office, phone never stops, sorting loads and breakdowns. Paperwork gets pushed to Friday afternoon or Sunday.
Frustrations	"Friday's gone doing wages." "Night outs and weekend rates never add up first time." "Drivers ringing me Monday saying their pay's wrong."
Wants	Pay right first time, no Monday arguments, and his Friday evening back.
Objections	"Another system to learn." "My drivers won't use an app." "It'll cost a fortune."
Trigger moment	Another Friday night stuck in the office, or a driver disputing his pay.
Language	Uses: wages, night out, the lads, the yard, tacho, loads. Dislikes: solution, synergy, digital transformation, platform-speak.
Where reached	LinkedIn feed (business hat), haulage Facebook groups (evening scrolling), square video with captions.

5. Chosen concept

Concept 1 - "Friday's for the pub" (recommended, chosen)

- Category: problem to solution, as a character story with a before/after.
- Hook (first 3 s): extreme close-up of a full pint going flat beside an empty stool.
- Story: His mates wait in the pub; his pint goes flat. Back at the yard, Gary is still adding up night outs and weekend rates on a calculator. One week later the wages are already done in Tachyo: one click, lamp off, jacket on, and he makes it to the pub while the pint is still cold.
- Emotional arc: amused recognition -> tired frustration -> quiet relief -> belonging.
- Why it fits: it is your chosen pain point, told in the owner's own world with dry humour, and it works with the sound off.
- Complexity / risks: medium. Three characters, two locations, four blocks. Most quality control goes on faces across blocks, the three-person payoff (4a), and keeping the office framing identical in 2a and 3a.

Concepts not chosen

- 2. "Split Friday" (before and after): a split screen, office on the left and pub on the right; the pub half fills with laughter while the office half stays grey, until Tachyo merges the two. Lower acting demands, but split screens read poorly in a small square feed.
- 3. "Last Orders" (twist): shot like a tense heist, Gary racing against a clock; the reveal is that he is racing to make last orders. Very memorable, but the highest complexity (fast cuts, many props) and the twist can overshadow the product.

6. Script

30 s master. Dialogue and captions in British English. Blocks are generated at 15 s and trimmed; the block used is in brackets.

Time	Visual	Dialogue / VO	On-screen text (edit)	Sound / music
0-3 s	(1a) Extreme close-up: full pint, foam thinning, condensation running, empty stool behind it.	-	Friday. 6:10 pm.	Pub murmur, a glass set down. Music: a single muted guitar note.
3-7 s	(1a) Dean glances at the door, then the pint. Sam turns her phone face-down.	DEAN (deadpan): "He's doing the wages again." SAM (half-smile): "Every Friday."	Dialogue captions	Music sparse, ticking rhythm.
7-14 s	(2a) Yard office at dusk. Gary at a desk of paper timesheets, tapping a calculator; phone buzzes, he ignores it, rubs his eyes.	GARY (muttering, tired): "Night out Tuesday... weekend rate Saturday..."	Dialogue caption	Fluorescent hum, calculator taps, phone buzz.
14-17 s	INSERT: real Tachyo payroll screen recording (demo data).	-	Wages worked out from real shifts.	Music lifts: one warm chord.
17-21 s	(3a) Same office, next Friday, clear desk. One click, a half-smile, lamp off, jacket on, out of the door.	-	Next Friday.	Lamp click, door shuts. Music builds gently.
27-30 s	End card on charcoal background.	-	Friday's for the pub. Not the payroll. / Request access - tachyo.co.uk + logo	Music resolves, 2 s tail.

15 s cutdown

- 0-3 s: 1a hook (pint going flat) with "Friday. 6:10 pm."
- 3-7 s: 2a Gary at the calculator, line "Night out Tuesday... weekend rate Saturday..."
- 7-9 s: payroll screen insert, "Wages worked out from real shifts."
- 9-13 s: 4a "Wages?" / "Done. Before I left." and the clink
- 13-15 s: end card

7. Scenario and continuity

Continuity ledger

Character: GARY
Wardrobe	Charcoal quarter-zip fleece, black T-shirt, dark work trousers; black padded work jacket from end of 3a
Hair / face	Short greying hair, trimmed grey stubble, reading glasses
Props	Calculator, timesheets, phone, laptop (screen away), mug
State entering block	2a: exhausted, sleeves up. 3a: rested. 4a: jacket open, glasses off, cold cheeks, grinning
Reference IDs	CHAR-GARY-01, CHAR-GARY-01-jacket

Character: DEAN
Wardrobe	Dark green checked flannel shirt over grey T-shirt
Hair / face	Bald, full salt-and-pepper beard
Props	His pint, the fresh pint he slides over in 4a
State entering block	1a: patient, dry. 4a: same seat, deadpan
Reference IDs	CHAR-DEAN-01

Character: SAM
Wardrobe	Burgundy knit jumper
Hair / face	Dark brown low ponytail, freckles
Props	Her pint, phone (face-down)
State entering block	1a: resigned half-smile. 4a: laughing
Reference IDs	CHAR-SAM-01

Character: Props / sets
Wardrobe	-
Hair / face	-
Props	Red lever-arch file (open in 2a, closed on shelf in 3a); untouched pint on beer mat (1a); fresh pint (4a)
State entering block	Office light identical in 2a and 3a
Reference IDs	LOC-OFFICE-BEFORE, LOC-OFFICE-AFTER, LOC-PUB

8. Visual and sound direction

Palette (60:30:10)

- Dominant 60%: charcoal / deep blue-grey (#1C1F24)
- Secondary 30% (office): cold steel grey (#6B7580)
- Secondary 30% (pub): warm amber and dark wood (#B7793A)
- Accent 10%: Tachyo red (props only) (#CC0000)

The office is cold and blue before the turn and the pub is warm amber, so the change of mood reads even with the sound off. Brand red appears only in props (the lever-arch file, a beer mat edge) and never as a logo.

Light, lens and camera

- Office: one warm desk lamp as key, cold fluorescent overhead, blue dusk through the window with yard floodlights. Switching off the lamp in 3a is the visual full stop.
- Pub: warm tungsten wall lamps and back-bar glow, light haze, dark window behind the table.
- Lens feel: macro for the pint hook, 35 mm for the office and the pub arrival, 50 mm for the mates' two-shot, close shots for reactions.
- Camera: static or slow push-ins only, which feels calm and trustworthy. 2a and 3a use the same locked position.
- Grade: low contrast and desaturated in the office; warmer and slightly richer in the pub.

Wardrobe and locations

- Plain, logo-free workwear in the palette; no busy patterns except Dean's large, simple check.
- LOC-OFFICE: small portakabin office at a lorry yard; plain lorry cabs outside with no livery.
- LOC-PUB: traditional British pub corner table, dark wood and brass, no readable signs or taps.

Music brief

Mood by section: problem = sparse, dry, a muted guitar note and a light ticking rhythm; turn (payroll insert) = one warm chord lift; payoff = warm, easy British indie-folk shuffle with a smile in it
 Tempo: 92-100 BPM
 Instruments: muted electric guitar, upright bass, brushed drums, upright piano
 Structure: near-silent under 1a dialogue; ticking bed under 2a; lift on the insert; full shuffle from 4a to the end card; dips under every spoken line
 Avoid: lyrics, stock corporate ukulele, epic trailer drums, anything that sounds like a pub-rock cover
 Generator prompt: Understated British indie-folk instrumental, 96 BPM, 32 seconds. Opens sparse with a single muted electric guitar and a soft ticking percussion loop, dry and slightly comic. At 14 seconds a warm piano chord lifts the mood, then brushed drums and upright bass bring in a relaxed, friendly shuffle that resolves cleanly on the final bar. No vocals, no lyrics.
 Length: 32 s (30 s film + 2 s tail); a 17 s edit for the cutdown

Voice and captions

- Mode: character dialogue on camera, generated natively by the video model.
- GARY: late 40s male, Northern English, gravelly, tired then quietly pleased; mutters rather than speaks.
- DEAN: early 50s male, Northern English, deep, slow, deadpan.
- SAM: late 30s female, Northern English, bright and wry.
- If native accents are weak, record the four lines in a voice tool and keep the speakers' mouths out of focus.
- Captions: white bold sans with a soft shadow, the key word in brand red, placed in the lower third clear of faces; every spoken line captioned.
- The brand Style Prefix is in section 2 (Director hand-off).

9. Asset plan

- ☐ TEST FIRST: CHAR-GARY-01 sheet on your video platform (face-filter check) before generating anything else
- ☐ GENERATE: CHAR-GARY-01 character sheet (fleece)
- ☐ GENERATE: CHAR-GARY-01-jacket wardrobe variant (edit from the locked sheet)
- ☐ GENERATE: CHAR-DEAN-01 character sheet
- ☐ GENERATE: CHAR-SAM-01 character sheet
- ☐ GENERATE: LOC-OFFICE-BEFORE location plate
- ☐ GENERATE: LOC-OFFICE-AFTER location plate (edit from BEFORE so the room is identical)
- ☐ GENERATE: LOC-PUB location plate
- ☐ SUPPLY: screen recording of Tachyo payroll with demo data (3-4 s usable)
- ☐ SUPPLY: Tachyo logo file for the end card
- ☐ HAVE: brand colours; website CTA
- ☐ AUDIO: music prompt ready (section 8); voice fallback tool chosen

Image prompts

CHAR-GARY-01

Character reference sheet of the same man, 48 years old, British, stocky build, short greying hair, trimmed grey stubble, tired kind eyes, rectangular reading glasses, wearing a plain charcoal quarter-zip work fleece over a plain black T-shirt and dark work trousers, on a plain neutral grey background, soft even studio light. Views: front, three-quarter left, three-quarter right, side profile, back, plus a close-up of the face, a tired expression and a relaxed grin. Photorealistic, natural skin texture with pores and stubble, identical face, hair and clothing in every view. No text, no logos, no watermark.

CHAR-GARY-01-jacket

Keep the exact same man from the reference image (same face, hair, stubble, glasses, skin tone, build). Add a plain black padded work jacket, worn open over the same charcoal fleece. Same plain neutral background and light. Photorealistic. No text or logos.

CHAR-DEAN-01

Character reference sheet of the same man, early 50s, British, broad build, bald head, full salt-and-pepper beard, laugh lines, wearing a dark green checked flannel shirt over a plain grey T-shirt, on a plain neutral grey background, soft even studio light. Views: front, three-quarter left, three-quarter right, side profile, back, plus a close-up of the face, a deadpan expression and a raised eyebrow. Photorealistic, natural skin texture, identical face and clothing in every view. No text, no logos, no watermark.

CHAR-SAM-01

LOC-OFFICE-BEFORE

Small portakabin site office at a UK lorry yard at dusk, seen from the front of a cluttered desk: stacks of paper timesheets, a desk calculator, an open red lever-arch file, a mug of cold tea, a closed laptop pushed aside, a warm desk lamp switched on, cold fluorescent tube overhead. Window behind the desk shows blue dusk and plain lorry cabs with no livery under yard floodlights. Palette of charcoal, steel grey and blue, one red file as accent. Empty of people, medium-wide view. Photorealistic. No text, no signage, no legible paper.

LOC-OFFICE-AFTER

Keep the exact same office, camera position, window and dusk light from the reference image. Change only the desk: all paper stacks and the calculator are gone, the red lever-arch file sits closed on the shelf behind the desk, an open laptop faces away from camera, the desk lamp is on. Photorealistic. No text, no signage, no legible screens.

LOC-PUB

Corner table in a traditional British pub in the evening, dark wood panelling, brass fittings, warm tungsten wall lamps and a softly glowing back bar out of focus, light haze, a dark window behind a cushioned bench. A small round wooden table with two half-drunk pints and one untouched full pint on a plain beer mat, an empty wooden stool on the camera side. Palette of warm amber, dark wood and charcoal. Empty of people, medium view at table height. Photorealistic. No text, no signage, no branded glasses or taps.

LOC-OFFICE-AFTER	Office, clear desk	@Image6
LOC-PUB	Pub corner table	@Image7

Error check before any still goes to video: faces, hair and wardrobe identical across views; hands correct; no text, logos or livery; the office matches exactly between BEFORE and AFTER. Model advice (September 2026, verify): a photoreal model with strong prompt-following for the character sheets, a reference-editing model for the jacket variant and the AFTER plate. Tags (@Image1...) follow Seedance-style numbering; adjust to your platform.

10. Hook variants (A/B)

Variant	Type	First 3 seconds	What it tests
A (default)	Striking image	Pint going flat beside the empty stool (1a), caption "Friday. 6:10 pm."	Curiosity from an image
B	Pain statement	Open on Gary at the calculator (2a), caption "Friday, 6 pm. Still doing the wages?"	Direct recognition of the pain
C	Direct address	Same pint shot as A, caption "Fleet owners: your pint's going flat."	Naming the role

B and C reuse existing footage, so no extra generation is needed. Run each variant with equal budget and nothing else changed, then compare how many people keep watching past the first 3 seconds.

11. Quality gate and deliveryBlock 1a

- ☐ Identity: Dean and Sam match CHAR-DEAN-01 and CHAR-SAM-01 in every frame
- ☐ Product accuracy: no Tachyo interface, logo or livery generated; laptop and phone screens face away
- ☐ Anatomy: hands on calculator, glasses, pint glasses and trackpad look natural; no extra fingers
- ☐ Motion and physics: foam, condensation and liquid behave realistically; no sliding or floating props
- ☐ Light and palette: matches the direction sheet and the neighbouring blocks
- ☐ No generated text, logos, signage or legible paper in frame
- ☐ Performance: deadpan timing lands; lines short and lips in sync
- ☐ Audio: pub murmur only, no music, dialogue clear
- ☐ Seam: cuts cleanly to 2a on the location change
- ☐ Brand fit and emotion: dry, warm British humour; never mocking the viewer

Block 2a

- ☐ Identity: Gary matches CHAR-GARY-01 (fleece, glasses, stubble)

- ☐ Product accuracy: no Tachyo interface, logo or livery generated; laptop and phone screens face away
- ☐ Anatomy: hands on calculator, glasses, pint glasses and trackpad look natural; no extra fingers
- ☐ Motion and physics: foam, condensation and liquid behave realistically; no sliding or floating props
- ☐ Light and palette: matches the direction sheet and the neighbouring blocks
- ☐ No generated text, logos, signage or legible paper in frame
- ☐ Performance: fatigue shown in the face and hands, not overacted; muttered line in sync
- ☐ Audio: fluorescent hum, calculator taps, phone buzz; no music
- ☐ Seam: camera position locked so 3a can match
- ☐ Brand fit and emotion: dry, warm British humour; never mocking the viewer

Block 3a

- ☐ Identity: Gary identical to 2a; jacket matches CHAR-GARY-01-jacket
- ☐ Product accuracy: no Tachyo interface, logo or livery generated; laptop and phone screens face away
- ☐ Anatomy: hands on calculator, glasses, pint glasses and trackpad look natural; no extra fingers
- ☐ Motion and physics: foam, condensation and liquid behave realistically; no sliding or floating props
- ☐ Light and palette: matches the direction sheet and the neighbouring blocks
- ☐ No generated text, logos, signage or legible paper in frame
- ☐ Performance: relief is small and believable (nod, half-smile)
- ☐ Audio: lamp click, door, distant lorry; no dialogue
- ☐ Seam: framing matches 2a exactly; cuts cleanly to 4a
- ☐ Brand fit and emotion: dry, warm British humour; never mocking the viewer

Block 4a

- ☐ Identity: Gary (jacket), Dean and Sam all match their sheets; wardrobe same as 1a
- ☐ Product accuracy: no Tachyo interface, logo or livery generated; laptop and phone screens face away
- ☐ Anatomy: hands on calculator, glasses, pint glasses and trackpad look natural; no extra fingers
- ☐ Motion and physics: foam, condensation and liquid behave realistically; no sliding or floating props
- ☐ Light and palette: matches the direction sheet and the neighbouring blocks
- ☐ No generated text, logos, signage or legible paper in frame
- ☐ Performance: two faces sharp per cut; lines in sync; laugh and clink natural
- ☐ Audio: pub ambience and clink; dialogue clear
- ☐ Seam: ends on a clean frame before the end card
- ☐ Brand fit and emotion: dry, warm British humour; never mocking the viewer

Model choice

- Default: Seedance 2.0 via your platform, for multi-reference character consistency and native dialogue (snapshot September 2026, verify limits and resolution).
- Bake-off on the hook (1a) and the payoff (4a): the same prompt and references on two or three current models (for example Seedance, Kling 3.0, Veo 3.1); keep the winner and log it in the Brand Card learnings.
- Generate one test block first (2a, simplest) at final settings and run the gate before generating the rest.

Delivery specs

- Master: 1:1, 1080 x 1080, 24 fps, H.264 MP4, captions burned in, plus an SRT file.
- Cutdown: 15 s, same specs.
- LinkedIn: check the current file-size limit (about 200 MB at time of writing) and upload at 1080p.
- Facebook groups and feed: the same 1:1 file; captions are essential.

- If a 16:9 website version is needed later, plan it as a separate generation; it cannot be cropped from a square master.

12. Editing and delivery checklist

- ☐ Assemble 1a, 2a, insert, 3a, 4a, end card in order; seams fall on location or time changes
- ☐ Every block passed the quality gate
- ☐ Captions for every spoken line, readable on a phone
- ☐ Add the real payroll screen recording (demo data only) with its caption
- ☐ Add the end card with the real logo and "Request access - tachyo.co.uk"
- ☐ Add music, mix well under speech, and check the film works with the sound off
- ☐ Colour-match: cold office, warm pub, same grade inside each location
- ☐ Watch on a phone and a desktop, with and without sound
- ☐ Export the 30 s master, the 15 s cutdown and hook variants B and C
- ☐ Save prompts, reference IDs, seeds and settings that worked into the Brand Card learnings
- ☐ Check platform ad policies (alcohol imagery, AI-generated content) before publishing

Brand Card: Tachyo (last updated: 28 September 2026)

Basics
- What it is: dispatch, payroll and compliance platform for UK haulage operators; web dispatch console plus a driver phone app, no hardware [confirmed]
- Category: B2B software [confirmed]
- Market / video language: United Kingdom / British English [confirmed]
- Stage: launching, first pilot client [confirmed]

Offer and proof
- Key benefits (max 3): wages that follow the shifts drivers actually worked (night outs, weekend rates, holidays); live view of where money leaks (idle time, unbilled loads, margin per load); walk-around checks, proof of delivery and compliance in one place [from tachyo.co.uk, confirm before quoting]
- Difference: one system for dispatch, payroll and compliance on drivers' own phones [from website]
- Verified proof points (usable in videos): none yet. The pilot client's data and results are NOT cleared for marketing [confirmed]
- Never claim / never show: pilot client name or results; numbers such as "two days to minutes" until verified; competitor names; real driver data [confirmed/assumed]

Audience
- Primary buyer: owner of a small UK haulage firm, 5-20 vehicles [confirmed]
- Uses vs decides: owner decides and often does payroll and dispatch; office manager or spouse may use it [assumed]
- Alternatives today: paper timesheets, spreadsheets, tacho downloads, WhatsApp [assumed]
- Top frustrations: Friday (or Sunday) payroll done by hand [confirmed]; pay queries from drivers; not knowing which loads made money [assumed]
- Desired outcome: pay right first time and the evening back [assumed]
- Objections: another system to learn; drivers will not use an app; cost [assumed]
- Where they are: LinkedIn, industry Facebook groups [confirmed]

Message and emotion
- Target emotion(s): recognition and humour, then relief [assumed]
- Desired action: Request access at tachyo.co.uk [website CTA]
- Tone words: friendly, conversational, straight to the pain point; speak to the viewer as "you" [confirmed]
- Avoid: jargon ("solution", "digital transformation"); implying drink-driving; mocking drivers [assumed]

Visual identity
- Colours: black / charcoal (#1C1F24, #333333), white, accent brand red (#CC0000) [confirmed black/red; hex from the product UI]
- Logo and placement: "tachyo." wordmark with lorry icon, end card only, added in edit [assumed]
- Look: grounded British realism, cinematic commercial [assumed]
- Reference videos: to add
- Typical settings: yard office (portakabin), lorry yard, cab, local pub [assumed]

Characters (recurring)
- CHAR-GARY-01 / Gary / 48 / small haulage firm owner / stocky, greying, stubble, glasses / charcoal quarter-zip fleece, black T-shirt; black padded jacket variant / references: to generate
- CHAR-DEAN-01 / Dean / early 50s / Gary's mate / bald, salt-and-pepper beard / dark green checked flannel shirt / to generate
- CHAR-SAM-01 / Sam / late 30s / Gary's mate / dark ponytail, freckles / burgundy knit jumper / to generate
- All characters are AI-generated fictional people [confirmed]

Product visuals
- Physical: none
- Software: real screenshots and screen recordings of the admin dashboard; use demo or mock data only, never pilot data [confirmed]

Sound
- Music mood: warm, understated British indie-folk shuffle after a sparse, ticking start [assumed]
- Voice: character dialogue, Northern English accents [assumed]
- Caption style: white bold sans with soft shadow, key word in brand red [assumed]

Channels and formats
- Priority platform: LinkedIn, then industry Facebook groups [confirmed]
- Formats / lengths: 1:1, 30 s master plus 15 s cutdown [assumed]
- CTA: Request access - tachyo.co.uk [website]

Quality and delivery
```

- Quality references ("premium" looks like): to add
- Logo and caption guidelines: to add
- Editing and delivery needs: editor not chosen yet [confirmed]

Style Prefix (brand)

Style: Photorealistic cinematic commercial, grounded British realism. No 3D render, no game engine.

Lighting: Motivated practical light only. Office: cold overhead fluorescent plus one warm desk lamp, blue dusk in the window. Pub: warm tungsten wall lamps and back-bar glow, light haze.

Color: 60:30:10. 60 charcoal and deep blue-grey, 30 steel grey in the office or warm amber and dark wood in the pub, 10 brand red (#CC0000) in props only.

Camera: Physical cine lens, shallow depth of field, 180-degree shutter motion blur. Static or slow motivated moves only, no handheld shake.

Skin: Natural skin texture with pores, stubble and fine lines. No beauty smoothing.

Acting: Restrained British naturalism. Dry, understated, micro-pauses before reactions, precise eye-lines, hands always busy.

Physics: Gravity and inertia respected, correct contact shadows, beer foam and condensation behave realistically, no floating props.

Composition: Square 1:1 frame, key action centred inside safe margins, clear foreground and background separation, every person moving from frame one.

Continuity: Characters, wardrobe, props and environment identical across every cut. No identity drift.

Technical: 24 fps smooth motion, high detail, no jitter, no flicker.

Frame content: No generated text, captions, logos, signage or readable screens in frame. Paper and screens are never legible.

Audio: Natural dialogue in British English (Northern accents) and room ambience only. No music. No captions.

Learnings
